New from MSMA

MSMA announces our newest certification:

The Office Services Professional Certification is a training and certification process for entry level, non-managers working in office services, support services and mail operations. It is aimed toward individuals with fewer than 3 years of industry experience seeking training in basic office services and functions. This professional training and certification program can be taken as a stand-alone certification or as a first step in a career long certification process for those who might eventually pursue the MDC, CMDSM or CMDSS certifications.
